Are you prepared to be a leader in the arts? With new times come new challenges. Exciting advances in comprehensive arts education and technology make the future one of promise and infinite possibilities.

With the generous support of the Robert and Ruby Priddy Charitable Trust, the College of Visual Arts and Design (CVAD) and the College of Music (COM) at the University of North Texas (UNT) are offering graduate Fellowships in Arts Leadership in collaboration with the North Texas Institute for Educators on the Visual Arts (NTIEVA). The Fellowships will position you to forge the alliances, create the collaborations, and produce the instructional materials that will ensure quality arts education well into the 21st century.

The Priddy Charitable Trust Fellowships in Arts Leadership provide support for five graduate students in visual arts and five graduate students in music to do graduate study in the College of Visual Arts and Design and the College of Music at the University of North Texas.

The fellowships are based upon the belief that a comprehensive education in the arts should be a part of the general education of every student and that effective use of community arts resources should be a part of that education. Through a combination of course work, internships, and involvement with NTIEVA, the Fellows will become influential advocates for the arts and arts education.

FELLOWSHIPS INCLUDE:

- $18,000 stipend for a 12-month period of graduate study
- Tuition and fees for 30 semester hours
- $4,000 professional travel allowance
